HYDIN OF HATRED

URING THE WAR we had the German hymn of hatred dinned into our ears day and night with the hypocritical assumption that in this country there was nothing of the kind. The events of the past few weeks have served to dispel this illusion through the distrinsionment following the disgraceful race riots which have of the gutter-who, under the sinisovercum the republic. These had their inception in Washington, the home of the government with the occurrence of the most disgraceful rioling that ever defiled a national capital. POLICY OF SUPPRESSION

HAT IS THERE about the peace treaty and its co-ordinated of loy tonight with a brand new jazz to the stire the administration to thwart the desire of orchestra noted for its distinctly difor that "pathless publicity" about which the chief exservice service was two years ago. Every day brings fitted service bar to serve quaint The latest ecstacles in soft drinks I and the hollow of the senate yesterday when Senator standard shortments which should have been submitted to the president soon after his arrival from Brest, name office. One of these was the treaty bethe the first and Poland and the other was an agreement Here Seen Kelly? at the growth of the Russe district to which the American the commission gave their approval without showing and the senate is entitled to and which is part of its length's. There must be a reason for this suppression and this reason will become manifest when the documents are

The foreign relations committee is the only means by same, with proper vouchers attached, which the people can hope to extract the facts of the whole transaction. With their decision rests the question as to whether the information the president possesses is to be given the public to enable them to reach a more intelligent conclusion regarding the treaty, or whether it is to remain forever locked up in the mental processes of Mr. Wilson.

The desire of the president to suppress the truth will not be possible so long as the other signatories of the pace have to submit the facts to their own governments which, although monarchical are less restricted than the Democratic administration at Washington which arrogates to itself autocratic powers that have never been dreamed of by any of the European countries. The truth will come out. The senate is not going to hurry about this important undertaking or be betrayed into any rash endorsement of dark lantern methods which the president is trying to thrust upon them. Thank God, there is a republican majority in Congress that insists on the American people being made acquainted with the secret diplomacy which Mr. Wilson was so eloquent in condemning.

INDUSTRIAL UNREST is the natural sequel of the government I inaction in not preparing for peace as suggested one year before the signing of the armistice, by the then minority Republican represcattation in both branches of Congress. The Democrats did not have time to pause in their mad orgie of extravagance to give a "mucht to the time when millions of men would return to peacefel parants and the country be subjected to the strain of an internal any alution in securing the adjustment which should have been prospectacle of our own people of Europe the American food admin-life. The only cours to pursue is to release the millions of tons of foodstuffs for the use of sar own people or endure the agony of a social revolution which is rearing its head in every congested center. A review of the food situation today disclosus that the United States is ever yet unprepared with a peace policy : in the same manner that it was imprepared with war policy when it entered the world's arena to fight the battles of democracy

VIOLA DANA IN PARISIAN

DRAMA AT THE BUTLER

Glimpses of Bohemian life in the artists' studios of the Latin quarter of Paris, will be among the clever scenes shown in "The Parisian Tiress," the gripping Metro play that will be shown at the Butler today. Miss Dana does some of her best work as the little grisette-a child er influences of an Apache is made o dance with him nightly in cafes of the lowest order. The dramatic dance is done by Miss Dana with fire and verve and shows that she has commatic career, was a dancer of note and brings her unusual art in this a two-reel Mack Sennett comedy,
